Supports lighting request

Council approves little league field

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council Monday night approved construction of a third little league baseball field at San Antonio Park and promised support in obtaining lights for fields used by Pop Warner Junior Football League and American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO).

Council members had feared approving a third baseball field would prevent other uses at San Antonio Park.

At a previous meeting Mayor pro tem John McCarthy said, "I never visualized San Antonio Park going entirely to baseball. Once a baseball field goes in, the area is not utilized for any other purpose."

The city staff had considered placement of the third field at Pioneer Park on 18th Street, but the San Antonio Park site would be more economical, according to Recreation Director Fred Taunton.

Citrus trees would have to be removed and water lines installed before the Pioneer Park site could be used, he said. The city also would lose revenue from the citrus trees removed from the site.

Taunton also said the northwest corner of San Antonio Park will remain a natural area when the third field is installed.

Pop Warner and AYSO officials asked the council to fund $2,000 for installation of lights for a practice field south of the present field at Pioneer Junior High School. Group members will provide much of the labor.

The council already has approved lights for a practice field at Upland Elementary School. Bruce Wishard, representing Pop Warner, said more lighted fields are needed to accommodate the league's six teams.

In a letter to the council Wishard noted, "The problem of adequate practice fields was compounded by the fact that soccer needs the same type of lighted practice field."

AYSO representative Richard Baker said the organization has grown from less than 100 players three years ago to an anticipated 700 players next fall. Without additional practice fields "we're just going to have horrible problems," he commented.

Both groups consider the lighting of Pioneer practice field a temporary solution until the Greenbelt Park can be developed.

The youth sports officials will request the Upland Elementary School District approve use of Pioneer Junior High and Upland Elementary schools' fields at the board meeting May 15.

The City Council promised to send a city representative to support the request. Three-way cooperation will be needed to provide the fields and lights, commented Mayor Abner Haldeman.

In other action Monday night the council:

talked very little when he began attending the Casa Colina Preschool for Handicapped Children. After a year he can walk, talk and see.

Firemen from Ontario, Montclair, Upland and Pomona will compete in the football game to raise funds to help children and adults with problems similar to Gary's.

The benefit game, now in its third year, was the idea of Ken Walker, an Ontario fireman who is a football promoter and karate expert. Walker received the Daniel Award from the National Football League for planning a "different concept in the name of football."

During halftime the firemen will present several displays and Gary will ride around the field on a fire truck.

Gary was injured at birth, possibly by lack of oxygen. Doctors expected his blindness to be permanent. During entrance evaluation at Casa Colina, Gary "miraculously" gained his sight. Doctors said the improvement was caused by changes in Gary's brain.

Hours of work by the preschool staff helped Gary learn to walk, run and kick a ball, although his movements are still awkward.

Through frequent speech therapy Gary has learned to talk in sentences and count to five. "We see and enjoy Gary's tremendous urge to grow and develop," commented his teacher Mary Ann Read. She hopes he will be able to attend public school along with his sister Wendy and brother Mike.

The Casa Colina preschool accepts children whose special conditions cannot be treated in regular school programs. Rubylee Gracy directs the preschool which is part of the Pomona Unified School District.

Gary's mother Barbara serves as president of the preschool's participating parents group. Parents attend weekly discussion groups and assist the preschool staff with care and meals three days a month.

Proceeds from the football game will be donated to the hospital and the auxiliary.

Women's Day set at Chaffey Saturday

A panel discussion on "The Many Faces of Women" and 12 workshops will be featured during Women's Day 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday at the Chaffey College little theater.

"We will be dealing with the many faces of women and want to reach out to all women in the community," commented Mary Wooten, Women's Center coordinator.

She said women may participate in the entire day or any part of the program. The panel discussion, workshops and child care are all free.

Guest panelists will include Mabel Harris, director of the San Bernardino County Adult Work Experience program; and Corinne Sanchez, director of the Los Angeles Chicano Service Action Center.

Other panelists are Rachel Madrigal, who is completing her master's thesis on the Chicana in contemporary culture and Lena Pock, a Chaffey College alumnus who earned a B.A. degree in 1974 — 40 years after her high school graduation.

Another highlight of the day will be the recognition of two Chaffey College teachers for their assistance to women on campus and in the community. The teachers are professors Bea Rose, social science division, and Allis B. Peaker, language arts division.

Participants may purchase $2 box lunches at the college or bring their own. Child care will be provided free of charge.

Women's Day is sponsored by the Women's Center and the Office of Community Education.

For information or advance registration call 987-1737, ext. 371.

City Council gives ok

Upland to purchase trucks

By Lynne Locke

The Upland City Council Monday night approved an additional $3,000 to purchase two refuse collection trucks which were ordered by the city in early 1974.

City manager Lee Travers reported Fair City Ford, which had been awarded the contract, could not provide the trucks for the bid amount because of cost increases.

Fair City Ford has agreed to absorb a third of the $2,100 increase per packer unit, according to Travers. The increase brings the price of each truck to $23,725 which is still below the $31,675 the city paid for a similar truck in late 1974.

City Attorney Donald Maroney said the city could sue Fair City

Ford for damages in breaking the contract. It would take the city 18 months to recover costs through a court case, he said.

Travers said the city needs the vehicles to replace trucks which were scheduled for replacement over a year ago. The council authorized the additional $3,000 and stipulated the trucks must be delivered by July 15.

In other action Monday night the

— Set the next council meeting for 7 p.m. May 15 due to an anticipated lack of quorum at the regularly scheduled meeting May 19. Mayor Haldeman said Councilman Hal Bailin will be on vacation and other council members will be meeting with legislative representatives in Sacramento.

— Approved a tentative tract map for six acres on the southwest corner of Mountain Avenue and 14th Street and referred a street name conflict to the Planning Commission. Palomino Avenue north of the tract jogs to continue west of the tract. Within the tract itself the northern part of Palomino Avenue becomes Chreston Avenue, causing confusion for motorists looking for addresses on Palomino avenue.

— Approved the evergreen carrottwood tree for use on the Euclid Avenue median strip. As camphor trees die, they will be replaced by the carrottwood trees. Replacement will cost $30 per tree.

— Appointed City Manager Lee Travers and Tony Malone, executive vice president of the Upland Chamber of Commerce, to assess damage and certify expenditures in case of emergency or disaster. The city is required to have public and private damage assessors in order to be eligible for federal disaster assistance.

— Approved tentative parcel maps for four parcels in commercial zones northeast of Mountain Avenue and Foothill Boulevard. The lots include Chadbourne Chevrolet, Mountain Liquors and vacant property.

She was one of six community college philosophy professors granted fellowships under the federally funded Humanities Faculty Development Program.

The title of her project will be "A Study of Contemporary American Philosophers: Their Values and Epistemology."

Student from UHS will attend program

Karen Kleinman of Upland High School has been selected to attend the Girls' State program sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary to be held from June 30 to July 7 at Sacramento State University, Sacramento.

Miss Kleinman will be sponsored by the Upland American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 73.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Kleinman, the student is a junior and plans to continue her education to become a psychoanalyst. She hopes to attend Stanford University after graduating from Upland High School in 1976.

At Upland, Miss Kleinman has been active in modern dance and on the varsity badminton team.

She is the junior class treasurer, historian and vice-president-elect for the coming school year of the "S" Club and is a member of the Repertory Theatre Troupe. She is a flag twirler and belonged to the California Scholarship Federation. She also is a member of the San Bernardino County Honor Band.

Finance prospects brighten

Ontario - Montclair School District Supt. Jack J. Jones said last week that current legislation now on the California Senate floor, and "a possible change of attitude towards school finance" by Governor Brown, could indicate a "light at the end of the tunnel in terms of the school finance situation."

Jones was referring to SB220, a proposal by Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, which cleared the Finance Committee Monday. The bill would provide school districts with some $125 million from the state treasury and enable them to obtain an additional $58 million from local property tax.

"The financial outlook for schools has been extremely bleak ever since school aid was rejected early in the year," said Jones, referring to the $78 million school finance bill defeated this spring.

"At that time, the most negative aspect of California schools' financial situation was the blatant opposition by Governor Brown to school aid of any kind," continued Jones. "But now, according to The Daily Report, the Governor is 'neutral' on the Rodda bill. That is a very substantial and encouraging shift for the community's schools."

"The important thing right now is that we let our representatives know that we want SB220 passed. I encourage concerned members of the community to write their state representatives — assemblymen, senators and particularly the governor — urging them to pass this bill."

Childbirth classes set

Carole A. Pagliughi will be conducting childbirth preparation classes in the Lamaze Technique on Monday at 7 p.m. at the Montclair Recreation Center on Fremont and Benito in Montclair. A film, "The Story of Eric" and a breastfeeding lecture will be presented by Mrs. Monecha Painter that evening. Call Miss Pagliughi for pre-registration information at 985-0080 or 985-6911.

HEW administration of U.S. food stamp program backed

San Bernardino County will join an effort to place the federal food stamp program under the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The change, county officials say, could save the county $700,000 per year in duplicated administrative costs.

The county board of supervisors Monday passed a resolution recommending the change. The resolution will be sent to Casper Weinberger, Secretary of HEW, and the Department of Agriculture.

The resolution also will be forwarded to the County Supervisors Association of California (CSAC), which is coordinating efforts among California counties to get the food stamp program placed under HEW.

According to Human Resources Administrator George H. Jeffery, 70 per cent of the food stamp recipients in the county also are receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), which is a HEW program.

About $700,000 per year could be saved in the county, Jeffery claims, by combining the AFDC and food stamp programs administratively.

Presently, food stamp recipients have to fill out separate applications to receive AFDC and are assigned to another case worker in addition to their food stamp case worker.

"We wouldn't be cutting any aid but the change would bring about a reduction in staff," Jeffery said.

'Zyzzyz Road'

AZUSA — The Los Angeles premiere of "Zyzzyz Road" will be presented by The Moving Co., when the dance group appears at Citrus College Auditorium, on Thursday, May 15, at 8 p.m.

Pat Finot is choreographer for the performance — a multi-media piece for dancers, lights and polyethylene sets — financed through a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. The score was commissioned for the work, and was composed by Cara Bradbury-Marcus for trumpet, drums, steel drum and tape effects.

The company will also present the Los Angeles premiere of "Where the Sky Seems to Meet the Earth."

For further information, call the Auditorium box office, 335-6116. The box office is open Monday through Friday, 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Mouth diseases

The mouth and teeth are susceptible to numerous diseases, possibly as many as 400. An examination by a dentist or doctor may show that a problem, though painful, is not serious and can be rectified with simple dental or home care. Moreover, early care may eliminate diseases that are potentially serious problems.

Among some common tooth and mouth problems that may be encountered are the following:

Trench mouth, a common disease also known as St. Vincent's Infection or "Necrotizing Ulcerative Gingivitis." This disease causes the outside tips of the gums between the teeth to die and become covered with gray or grayish-yellow matter which, when removed, leaves a bleeding infected surface. A visit to the dentist is most important if these symptoms appear, and home care may include a change in diet.

School donation

Upland Junior High School received a portable Tower Commander typewriter from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Slomik.

The Altrusa Club of Ontario-Upland donated six system 80 kits to Upland School District. The kits, used with Borg-Warner Educational System, are worth $876.

B of A awards

Six area students have been honored in the Bank of America's 28th annual Achievement Awards program. Upland High School students Penny Cubreth, vocational arts, and Frank Mizuno, science and mathematics, placed first in the semifinals competition. They will compete in Southern California competition May 21.

Second-place winners are Montclair High School students Thresa Gullo, liberal arts and John Lesko, science and mathematics. Carol Stapp of Upland placed third in fine arts and Michael Genoff of Cucamonga placed fourth in fine arts.

All six students received cash awards for placing in the semifinals. Local civic and business leaders chose winners on the basis of grades, leadership qualities, outside activities and group discussion.

Commissioner

Bill Imbach of Montclair has been appointed to the newly created Commission To Study Cruelty to Animals chaired by State Assemblyman Bill McVittie. The blue-ribbon commission will study mistreatment of animals.

Reappointment

Dr. Henry E. Childs Jr., vice president for instruction at Chaffey College, has been reappointed to Community College Occupational Programs Evaluation System (COPES), a statewide project to help community colleges prepare students for employment. Childs presently serves as COPES team coordinator for program evaluations and is a member of the project planning committee.

Santa helpers seek support

Most West End residents probably haven't given a thought to Christmas, 1975—but as summer approaches, the workers at Santa Claus, Inc. act as if the snow were on the ground, the trees were trimmed and the stockings hung.

Work for Christmas, 1975 has already begun.

On April 28, the board of directors from the Ontario SCI office met and discussed the need for more volunteers.

A year round task, SCI provided more than 4,000 children with gifts in 1974. It took many volunteer hours to produce over 8,000 toys and 4,000 outfits of new clothing for the project.

Male volunteers are in short supply this year. SCI is searching for a welder, several mechanics and workers to repair large toys. Women who sew are needed to make doll clothes and dresses and pant-suits for young girls.

Anyone who is interested in helping is urged to contact Esther Aanstad, SCI's secretary at 984-6627.

Knitters willing to make small sweaters are urged to call Mrs. L. D. Elliott at 984-3070. She will supply yarn and instructions for the sweaters.

A toy drive was recently conducted by the Ontario-Montclair School District. Mrs. Aanstad said the drive was extremely successful. Many other local residents are bringing in repairable toys.

But there is still a tremendous need for toys of all kinds—dolls, wagons, tricycles, bicycles, spare parts or items which will make a used toy look new, like sewing materials, used blankets (fillers for crib covers) or a used, unwanted toy.

Mrs. Aanstad said, "We wish people would not throw away parts of toys. We have been recycling for years."

Last year, some 1,500 volunteers made it possible for the 4,000 children to receive gifts.

The entire operation takes place at Santa's Workshop, 1330 E. D St., Ontario. Mrs. Aanstad is at the workshop on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Whether donors are willing to give time, money, toys or clothing, Mrs. Aanstad is available to accept the gifts.

The church is the beneficiary of a special program of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, called the planning process. It is a project using data input from parishioners and the processing of such data by an ad hoc committee of church members.

Guided by Diocesan leaders, the committee has resolved a number of conflict issues. The process involves in-depth procedures in human relations that strengthen individual commitments to church and community.

Upland First Presbyterian Church

Strawberry Social planned

An old-fashioned Strawberry Social will be held 6-9 p.m. Saturday and noon-3 p.m. Sunday by the Spirit of '76, the high school group at the First Presbyterian Church of Upland, 869 N. Euclid Ave.

A drive-in, take-home service will also be available both days for families who prefer to eat in their cars or at home. Use the Euclid Avenue entrance to the church.

This social is one of the groups' special fund-raising events in preparation for their 1976 Work-Study Project of Reformation History. Next summer they plan to visit Holland, Germany and Switzerland to see the scenes of the Protestant Reformation.

Youth executive committee members are Bruce Beardwood, Kristen Gilfillan, Karla Peterson and Carrie Swenson. Adult leaders are Judy and Bruce Breitler and Barbara and Bob Gillogly.

Claremont professor

Clinebell given AAPC award

Dr. Howard Clinebell, professor of pastoral counseling at the School of Theology at Claremont, recently was awarded the "Distinguished Contribution Award" as the "Person of the Year" by the American Association of Pastoral Counselors.

Meeting on April 16 and for two days thereafter in New Orleans, this 11th annual convention of the AAPC honored Dr. Clinebell "in recognition of his outstanding leadership and significant contribution to the development and advancement of pastoral counseling."

Dr. Clinebell has been a contributing and innovative leader of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors and has influenced the profession from the early, beginning days of organization of the AAPC. He served at its first meeting as the organizing chairman and then actively recruited other seminary professors of pastoral counseling to join the association; and then at the second meeting was elected the association's first president.

The AAPC now includes the seminary teachers of pastoral counseling and the full-time directors and counselors of clinical pastoral centers, as well as the parish pastors who do counseling, as they traditionally always have done, only now with considerably more training and expertise.

The AAPC was first established 11 years ago by Dr. Clinebell and others to establish the sound operation of church-related counseling programs.

Each year there has been a work-study group of high school students as a part of the religious education program of the church. The concept is to involve youth in Christian work here and abroad with study related to each project.

This coming summer the Coventry-Together group, which was formed last year, will travel to Coventry Cathedral in England to participate in the youth work.

In 1973 a group of students from the church, who called themselves "New Community," focused on the Taizé Community in France, which is a Protestant/Catholic Renewing Center.

An ongoing fund-raising project for the groups is the Ecology Center at Second Avenue and Stowell Street in Upland, behind Rigg Lumber Co. Newspapers, bundled, and glass and aluminum cans, bagged, may be deposited at the center for the young people to sort and sell.

A continuing service project is the Indian Wells Presbyterian Church on a Navajo Reservation in Arizona. The youth, with adult assistance, help in maintaining the church and grounds and assist with the community center and the thrift store.

The Sunday Strawberry Social will follow the Mothers' Day church service, which will feature the Rev. Robert Gillogly and Senator Robert Presley in a dialog sermon on parenthood education, a concern of the recent state legislative session. This topic ties in with the 1975 theme of the church: "Focus on the Family — Faith."

Dinner - meeting set by church

To evaluate the planning process, the St. John's Episcopal Church of La Verne-San Dimas Congregation will hold a dinner meeting 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 13 at the church on Wheller Avenue, La Verne.

Following dinner, the planning committee will present the results of three months of special study and work session at now established goals for the coming year.

The church is the beneficiary of a special program of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, called the planning process. It is a project using data input from parishioners and the processing of such data by an ad hoc committee of church members.

Guided by Diocesan leaders, the committee has resolved a number of conflict issues. The process involves in-depth procedures in human relations that strengthen individual commitments to church and community.

County revises Prado Park plan

Prado Regional Park was expected to have a 56-acre lake when it opened in July of 1976. Now it appears the park will be lucky to have a fish pond.

Inflation, bureaucratic demands from Sacramento and problems with sewer connections to the park are causing county officials to back off from the original plan for development of the 286-acre regional park.

The county is now working on a plan to "phase" the development of the park, which would mean giving up a $1.3 million state grant allocated to the county a year ago under the Davis-Grunsky Act.

The county will attempt to replace the state funding with money from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The Corps of Engineers has told the county it will spend up to $10 million for recreation in the Prado basin as compensation for property tax revenue that will be lost to the county if the Prado-Mentone Dam project is carried out.

Supervisor Robert O. Townsend of Chino related Monday that the county intends to spend $1.5 million of its own funds for development of the park in fiscal year 1975-76. That level of funding is significantly less than the $4.3 million the county estimated would be spent to complete the park by July of 1976.

As a result, the county's Public Works Agency is now working on a scaled down version of the park for its opening.

Public Works Administrator John Bernard said today the first phase of the park's development will include camping and picnic areas but not a 56-acre lake for fishing and boating.

"At the moment, it looks like we'll have to delay that lake," Bernard said. "Dams have to be built to create the lake and they are expensive. We're hoping the Corps will be able to provide funding for that in a later phase."

In lieu of a lake, the county is considering a fishing pond, similar in size to a pond on a golf course, which would be stocked with catfish and bluegill. The 56-acre lake would have been stocked with 82,690 pounds of trout per year and 12,600 pounds of catfish, bass and crappie.

Supervisor Townsend defended the new proposal Monday at the board of supervisors meeting.

He said the Prado Regional Park plans "may be revised" but "the scope of the park will be greater, much greater, than has been proposed before."

Prado Park

Concluded

The supervisors passed a resolution Monday asking Congress to raise the limit on the amount of money the Corps of Engineers can spend on recreational development.

According to Townsend, the Corps cannot fund any of the first-year development of Prado Regional Park because it has already reached its recreation spending limit for that year.

Concerning changing the limitation on the Corps' spending, Townsend said he has talked with Sen. John Tunney, Congressman George Brown, D-36th Dist., and Congressman Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist.

"They indicated the change is long overdue and were confident that it would be a matter of mechanics," Townsend said.

Regardless of the change in the Corps' spending limit, Townsend said the Corps intends to come in the second year with $1.5 million in funding for the park.

Continued funding from the Corps, the supervisor said, would enable the county to build an equestrian center on the east side of the park, which had not been included in the earlier plan, and riding trails that would tie in trails along the Cucamonga Creek channel and the Santa Ana River.

The change of direction in developing Prado Regional Park was necessitated, according to county officials, by inflation, which had driven up costs from the original $4.3 million estimate to between $5.5 and $6 million.

The project was also being made more expensive, according to Public Works Administrator Bernard, by demands from the bureaucrats in Sacramento administering the Davis-Grunsky grant program.

"The conditions they imposed on the grant made everything so expensive we decided we'd better do it ourselves," Bernard said.

In addition, the county has experienced a six month delay in the park's sewer construction as a result of a dispute between the Santa Ana River Water Quality Board and the state Water Quality Board. Supervisor Townsend related Monday.

Chaffey trustees ok rehiring of teachers

Upland News: Cucamonga Times: Montclair Tribune
The Chaffey Union High School District Board of Trustees Monday adopted a state hearing officer's findings and formally approved the rehiring of 43 teachers.

The state hearing officer had found the district erred in implementing budget cuts that followed failure of the March 4 tax override election.

Cuts must be made in specific programs or services, a qualification that does not include reductions of "teaching in general," the hearing officer said.

The board could have rejected that finding, but Supt. Allan G. Smith reported both the administration and county counsel do not recommend such action.

McCall picked to guide North

When his Alta Loma High School Braves were eliminated in the second round of the CIF 2-A basketball playoffs this year, Coach Jeff McCall might have thought he was finished with basketball for 1975.

However, McCall has just one more game to coach this year.

The Alta Loma skipper was recently named by the La Verne Rotary Club to coach the North All-Stars in the second annual Pomona Valley High School Basketball All-Star Game, which will be held at Claremont High School on Tuesday, June 17. The game is scheduled to get under way at 8 p.m.

McCall, who piloted the Braves to the second best seasons in Alta

Loma history, selected Royal Oak head coach Gerry Zuhlik as his assistant for the classic.

"When I heard that they (sponsor, La Verne Rotary Club) were going to select this year's coaches according to their teams' success, I figured I had a shot at it," McCall admitted. "We had one of the best seasons in the North."

Alta Loma finished second in the Hacienda League this year, but traveled farther in the CIF playoffs than any other team in the league.

The Braves defeated L.A. Lutheran, 48-36, in the first round of the 2-A playoffs before falling to eventual semifinalist Brea-Olinda, 68-46, in the second round.

Both league champion Walnut and co-runnerup Gladstone bowed out of the post-season tournament in the first round.

Alta Loma finished the season with a 19-9 won-lost record.

McCall got most of his schooling in the valley. He prepped one year at Ganessa High before spending two years at Mt. San Antonio College. He then attended Cal Poly in Pomona and was graduated in 1967.

Jeff coached two years for lower division teams at Alta Loma before being drafted into the service. He spent 19 months in the Army and returned to Alta Loma, where he took over as head basketball coach.

Each coach of a school in the North (which means North of the San Bernardino Freeway) was invited to nominate no more than three graduating senior players from his team to compete in the All-Star game.

Twelve players will be selected by the sponsors for the North team, but no school may be represented by more than two players.

Each participant in the game shall have had at least 12 days of organized practice prior to participating in the game.

One of the changes in the rules for this year's game is that six personal fouls will be allowed, instead of five.

Artists to hold annual reception

The new members' annual Champagne Reception held yearly by the Chaffey Community Art Association will take place on Sunday, May 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Maher in Upland.

Featured will be art, music, fashions from creative sewing art and photographic display.

Also included will be a showing of Sumi ink painting, the newest acquisition to the association's permanent collection, by Ning Yeh, Claremont artist.

On display will be two pictures selected in 1941, the year the Art Association was founded. These will be "Conchita," a watercolor by Loren Barton and "What, Again," an oil by Emil Kosa Jr.

The program will include students modeling their fashions made from the creative art-in-sewing classes held by Betty Miller and Bobby Arjo for the Chaffey College Community Education program.

Mr. and Mrs. Maher and their daughter Mary Maher will be hosts for the champagne program which will run from 2 to 4 p.m. Association members are invited to bring guests to the event.

Mrs. Philip White and Mrs. Allen Palmer have arranged an exhibit of art by local artists and this will include oil and watercolor paintings, ceramics, collages, stained glass, woodwork, photography, string art, jewelry, stichery, batik and coussine.

Grace Richards Hamilton is chairman of the entire event, with Mrs. Orel A. Davidson in charge of refreshments. Assisting will be Mrs. Jack J. Vaughn, Sylvia Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Barnett, Mrs. Edgar J. Close, Mary Ann Miller and Patricia Hensley.

Artists exhibiting will be June Alexis, Clay Ambrose, Wendy Atwell, Joyce Barnett, Walter L. Barnett, Clint Bryant, Dee Cole, Trudy Frost, George Fleming, Priscilla Hensley, Patty Krugel, Mrs. Miller, Miriam Perry, David Putnam, Mrs. Palmer, Emil Schmitz, Helen Thompson, Mrs. Pete Weiland and Mrs. White.

'Plaza Suite' in Claremont

CLAREMONT — The Four Colleges Players of Claremont Men's Harvey Mudd, Pitzer and Scripps Colleges will present Neil Simon's hit comedy, "Plaza Suite," at 8 p.m. May 16, 17, 23, and 24 in Balch Auditorium at Scripps College, 10th and Columbia.

"Plaza Suite" consists of three one-act plays tied together by locale — all take place in a suite in the Plaza Hotel. The first play has a married couple rent the suite while their house is being painted. They discover it's the same suite they spent their honeymoon in almost 25 years before. In the second play, a successful Hollywood producer who has been divorced three times decides to look up a childhood sweetheart, now a suburban housewife. The two retreat to the suite and discover how time changes all. Parents are faced with their daughter's refusal to leave the suite's bathroom for her downstairs wedding in the third play.

State urged to finish plans

The county board of supervisors Monday urged the state Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) to complete plans for the Foothill Freeway.

The supervisors, at the urging of Ontario Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell, passed a resolution urging the state to complete the freeway plans so the Foothill Freeway can qualify for impounded highway funds that may soon be released by the federal government.

The Ford administration last February released $2 billion in impounded highway funds and there are indications another $6- to $7 billion will be released in the next few weeks.

"I am concerned because the Foothill Freeway should have top-flight priority for non-interstate highway funding," Mikesell said Monday.

The supervisor said he wants the Foothill Freeway plans finished as soon as possible "so that if and when the money is available we'll be ready to go to work."

'Western Daze' in San Dimas

'The Friday Night Picture Show' to play

HOPING TO WIN — Lynne Clemmons will compete with other San Dimas youngsters in an art contest at Romeo and Juliet's Hobby Shop in San Dimas. The event is held in conjunction with 'Western Daze,' an annual western-style celebration to be held in San Dimas Friday through Sunday. (Photo by Peggy Olsen)

By Peggy Olsen

The 1920's era will come alive for San Dimas residents and visitors Friday night when the Bicentennial Commission sponsors "The Friday Night Picture Show" in the Stanley Plummer Community Building.

Old time motion pictures starring William S. Hart, the pioneer cowboy actor, will be shown 7-11 p.m. continuously for "two bits," reports cinema manager Alline Kranzer. The event is staged in conjunction with "Western Daze," San Dimas' annual western celebration.

The movies will provide some nostalgic moments for long time residents who recall "The Blue Bird Theatre," built on the present site of the Ellis Building on Bonita Avenue in 1926.

Bicentennial Commissioner Sylvia Dyck discovered that The San Dimas Press, May 20, 1926, "announced a new chapter in the San Dimas saga!" It was reported: "The Bluebird (picture theatre) has been trying its wings since last Wednesday evening. The theater will be open five nights a week from 7:30 every night except Sunday and Monday, with three different programs a week."

Films were silent "with incidental piano music" set to each picture. The management promised "nice high class programs" with evening rates set at 10 and 30 cents and matinees priced at 10 and 20 cents.

Skipping to the June 3, 1926 issue of the Press, Mrs. Dyck read: "The Blue Bird Theatre is growing slowly but surely and each day shows some improvement." When completed, "San Dimas will have a nice little amusement place to be proud of."

Once the theater was established, Manager F.M. Gibson, brother and promoter of Hoot Gibson, became a Press columnist. He wrote for the June 1926 issue: "Saturday we have one more of Hoot Gibson's feature comedies, Broadway or Bust. One of the funniest things you ever laughed at. Starts in a small western town and ends in a Broadway hotel. See the two boys order parlor, bedroom and bath with ice water, for their horses and get it too! Also another fat boy comedy and International news reel . . . and we are trying to supply entertainment you are not tired of. Also the place has been labeled OK by the state and county fire inspector."

Gibson wrote in the Press article dated June 24, 1926: "Those passing the theater will notice a huge scaffold has been erected directly in front of the house. It is for the sole purpose of hanging the printer who scammed our program last week. We are waiting anxiously for this issue of the Press and if it comes out OK we may use the scaffold for plastering the building."

Mrs. Dyck said "With a tear in my eye, I read the Dec. 2, 1926 copy. 'No one has ever received anything but courtesy, unless he tried to get rough. We will not tolerate noise.' Oh, Mr. Gibson, where are you?"

Many San Dimas remember that the theater was segregated, with one side reserved for Americans and one for "our Mexican friends." Mrs. Vera Ellis, present owner of the building, recalls that The Blue Bird only survived for about two years.

"They had trouble with the kids tearing it up. It's too bad that young people can't seem to know they spoil their own entertainment," she said.

"And so, briefly, 'Love on the Rio Grande,' 'Three Faces West' and 'Who's Guilty' passed before the eyes of San Dimas. Lots of hero business and action, news reels and cartoons."

It is hard not to note the humor and enthusiasm of the theater manager who signed his articles 'Grinningly yours,' " Mrs. Dyck noted.

Pickin' and fiddlin' in bluegrass concert fest

Some serious pickin' and fiddlin' will take place when fiddle, banjo, guitar and group performers compete for area wide recognition at the San Bernardino County Regional Parks Department's Calico Ghost Town during the third annual Spring Festival on Mother's Day weekend, May 10 and 11.

The Silver Bowl just off Ghost Town Main Street will provide the setting for the four competitions which take place during a two day long Old Time Fiddle and Banjo Contest. Registration for the contest will start at 9 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday with categories in beginning fiddle and banjo starting at 10 a.m. Saturday morning and beginning guitar and group at 2 p.m. that afternoon. Advanced fiddle and banjo competitions will take place on Sunday at 10 a.m. followed by advanced guitar and group at 2 p.m.

A special runoff will take place both days in which the top three performers in each category will compete for the final first, second and third place awards. The runoff will be held for beginners at 5:30 p.m. Saturday and on Sunday at 4:30 p.m. for all advanced performers.

The contest is free to enter and contestants can register for as many categories as they wish. Trophies, ribbons and pies will be given away as prizes to the winners of each category. Only acoustical instruments will be allowed in the contest.

Pie tables will be located in shops throughout town for those musically inclined participants who do not wish to enter the contest but would enjoy playing three tunes for a free pie. Other attractions will include egg tossing, greased pole climbing, pie eating and silver guessing, all free.

Saturday evening will host a bluegrass concert at 7 p.m. The concert will also take place in the Silver Bowl with Jerry Pyle acting as emcee for groups such as the Crooks from Yucaipa, Hogwash from Riverside and the Bodie Mountain Express from Perris adding to the foot stomping and ear tickling excitement.

Square dancing will also be featured during the Spring Festival, and dancers will be able to swing their partners on Calico's new Silver Bowl dance floor under the stars, beginning at 8 p.m. Friday and 9 p.m. Saturday.

Jerry Hightower, who has called many dances throughout the western states and is well known within the Cow Counties Association, will act as emcee for the evening dances and will welcome guest callers attending the Mother's Day weekend festivities.

A silver mining boom town of the 1880's, Calico has been restored and is now a San Bernardino County Regional Park offering its visitors a chance to experience the Old West, complete with a general store, jail, saloon, school house, graveyard and even a walk through one of the old mine tunnels.

Calico Ghost town is located on Interstate 15, ten miles northeast of Barstow. Motel accommodations are available in Barstow and Yermo. Campground reservations at Calico are available by calling (714) 254-2122.

Calico Ghost Town Spring Festival

SPLISHING AND SPLASHING — The waterlogged bucket brigade is but one of many wild west contests taking place during the third annual Calico Ghost Town Spring Festival Friday through Saturday. Sponsored by the San Bernardino County Regional Parks Department, this two-day musical fling will feature old-time contests, campfire entertainment, barbershop singing, square dancing and fiddle playing. Calico Ghost Town is located on Interstate 15, 10 miles northeast of Barstow. For further information, call the Regional Parks Department, (714) 383-1912.

MASTER CHARGE

By Anita Miller

A woman ought to know

Dear Anita:

I am a married woman with no income of my own. Can I still get a credit card?

S.B., Sacramento

You not only can — but we recommend that you do it immediately. Establishing a credit record in your own name may not seem like a necessity to you now. But every day, thousands of women are suddenly widowed or divorced and then discover they have no credit history.

Because of the new California Community Property law, a married woman can list as her assets the couple's community property (home equity, salaries, personal property, etc.) when applying for credit in her own name.

To establish your own credit history, visit your nearest credit reporting agency and request a file in your own name. Then, open a charge account, use it, and pay your bills promptly.

Our way of life often requires the extension of credit for essential purchases. Women must have equal opportunity to avail themselves of this essential service.

For further information, write for a copy of "You've Gotta Give Her Credit" from CCSW, 926 J St., Suite 1014, Sacramento 95814.

Dear Anita:

Will the Equal Rights Amendment invalidate laws requiring husbands and fathers to support their families?

L.G., Sacramento

Dear L.G.:

All states require a husband to support his wife and children and some require husbands and wives to support each other. However, these laws are not enforced unless a marriage breaks up and one of the partners files for divorce or brings a criminal action for non-support. The courts have ruled that a married woman living with her husband can get only what he chooses to give her.

Californians have been living under a mutual support law since 1970 (Civil Code 5100 — Husband and wife contract toward each other obligations of mutual respect, fidelity and support). However, no proceeding forcing a wife to leave her home in order to support her husband has been initiated. This absence of judicial interference in an ongoing marriage reflects the proper role of the support laws.

ERA scholar Thomas Emerson has noted the law's limited powers to "predetermine and control the nature of intimate personal relationships." (Yale Law Journal, Vol. 80, No. 5, April, 1971)

The ERA will require husbands and wives to support one another depending on their financial status and their contributions to the household. A wife's contributions of time, energy and skill in her home may constitute her portion of support.

There would be no question, in or out of the courtroom, of a woman's status as homemaker and mother. It would be equal to her husband's status as breadwinner.

ERA would not change private arrangements between husband and wife, and no court would interfere in a marriage that is intact.

Dear Anita:

I employ both men and women in my manufacturing plant. But the women are sick more often and have a higher turnover rate. If women want to work, why aren't they more dependable?

S.K., Fresno

Dear S.K.:

The time has come for exposing the myth about women being "unreliable" in their work.

A 1971 public health survey indicates that men and women lose almost the same time from work due to illness and disabilities, including childbirth and pregnancies. In fact, the figures on absenteeism for workers over the age of 45 show women with a better record than men.

Not surprisingly, illness seems to be strongly related to the income and skill level of the job for both men and women. The lower the income, and the more monotonous and unchallenging the job, the greater the incidence of illness.

Turnover rates are also linked to salary and status. Men in similar job classifications have a turnover rate equal to that of women.

Write to us again, S.K., after you take a better look at your employees and the positions they hold in your firm.

'Applause' to open Friday

San Bernardino Civic Light Opera's production of the Tony Award winning Broadway musical extravaganza, "Applause," starring Yvonne De Carlo, opens Friday at the California Theatre of Performing Arts in San Bernardino.

"Applause," directed by the Tony Award winning producer director Lawrence Kasha, plays for a limited engagement through May 17th.

Co-starring with Miss De Carlo, who will be seen as the reigning queen of the Broadway stage, will be John Gabriel, star of stage, films, and television.

Udina Power, who won critical acclaim for her portrayal of Melanie in the musical version of "Gone With The Wind," portrays Eve Harrington, who achieves stardom at the expense of her friends.

Betty McGuire, who appeared in Civic Light Opera's "Cabaret," and veteran actor-singer Lou

Wills, are also featured in "Applause."

Other featured performers include Broadway star Norwood Smith, recreating the same role he played opposite Opposite Bacall in "Applause."

HEALTH NEWS . . .

AS A TWIG IS BENT SO GROWS THE CHILD

By Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

News stories regarding the inability of school-age children to pass physical tests are quite common these days. One recent survey notes that the percentage of the nation's school children failing fitness exams is 57.9%. It also indicated that seven of every ten children between the ages of 6 and 16 have definite spinal distortions.

Research has pointed out that such defects are not normal but, rather, the forerunner of many serious spinal disorders of adulthood. Although heredity is an important factor in the child's spinal problem, it does not account for more than a small per cent of the spinal disorders.

To the contrary, the neglect of minor falls, sprains and daily incidents in the life of an active child is the major cause of structural spinal disorders.

I've pleaded with many a parent not to handicap their off-spring by neglect. That's really what it amounts to. I have found that so many adult problems date back to spinal nerve pressures sustained in childhood.

And, incidentally, when you speak of surveys conducted regarding youth fitness you will note that children who have regular Chiropractic care miss far less time from school due to illness than other children.

You must realize until recent years little attention was given to a youth's physical dexterity. And even those with obvious posture defects — the distorted, misaligned, and in some cases actually handicapped — were looked upon as products of heredity.

In other words, a special curvature, a head tilt or a pelvic tilt was thought to be an unfortunate, but normal accident of nature.

Western Daze to be held in San Dimas

By Peggy Olsen

Visitors from all over the southland may enjoy a variety of activities planned for San Dimas "Western Daze" Friday through Sunday.

The San Dimas Chamber of Commerce sponsored event is held annually to solidify community spirit and to promote the city's western theme which is reflected in the decor of many downtown businesses. Events are planned for all age groups.

Activities will get underway 10 a.m. Friday with merchant sidewalk sales. Rides and booths to delight youngsters and oldsters will be featured 4 p.m.-11 p.m. at Stark and Sons Carnival in Puddingstone Center, corner of San Dimas and Bonita avenues.

Short reels of old William S. Hart movies will be shown at the Friday Night Picture Show 7 p.m. in the civic center, 245 E. Bonita Ave.

Saturday festivities will begin at 7:30 a.m. in Canyon Shopping Center, corner of San Dimas Canyon Road and Bonita Avenue, with a Kiwanis Club pancake breakfast. A parade down Bonita Avenue will follow at 9:30 a.m. Shootouts, robberies and holdups will be staged throughout the day with "local gangsters" hauled to court and jails by "Western Daze" law officers.

Other activities will include hay wagon rides, tortoise races, a carnival, various exhibits and sidewalk and booth sales in the city's shopping centers.

Cowtown Capers (games, races, horseshoes) will be conducted by the city's recreation department. Visitors will see an historical and flower show.

Hungry celebrants may appease appetites at the Kiwanis Chuck Wagon Lunch which will be served 10 a.m.-4 p.m. in the old downtown area on Bonita Avenue. A little league dinner dance is set 8 p.m.-1 a.m. in the civic center.

Sunday events will include a horse show 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. at the San Dimas Equestrian Center, 299 E. Foothill Blvd. Stark and Sons Carnival will highlight festivities 10 a.m.-11 p.m. in Puddingstone Center.

Local churches will cooperate to conduct a Christian Festival 2:30-4 p.m. in the civic center plaza, 245 E. Bonita Ave.

All southland residents are invited to the "biggest ever" Western Daze celebration, said chairman William Lange and chamber director Jack Carruthers.

To reach San Dimas, take the Arrow Highway offramp from the 210 Freeway.

Multi-talented actor signed

William Devane, a current best-actor Emmy nominee and director of a critically hailed stage play now showing to SRO audiences in Hollywood, has been signed to co-star with Michael York in Saul David's production of "Logan's Run," it has been announced.

Devane will portray a member of an elite police force in a 23rd century city in the unusual multimillion-dollar adventure drama which goes before the MGM cameras in late June with Michael Anderson directing.

Certainly the busiest actor-director in Hollywood today, Devane has been nominated for an Emmy for his portrayal of John F. Kennedy in "The Missiles of October" on ABC. He is also director of the new play, "Are You Now Or Have You Ever Been . . ." which opened to rave reviews and looms as a strong candidate for Broadway.

At present he is starring opposite George C. Scott in the CBS movie-for-TV, "Fear On Trial." His signing for "Logan's Run" gives Devane the unique distinction of working in the media of film, stage and TV simultaneously.

David Z. Goodman wrote the script for "Logan's Run" based on a novel by William F. Nolan and George Clayton Johnson.

Motor Car Dealers Association address

Drivers must face choices about cars

Californians must make some hard choices, and soon, about their personal transportation, according to Ontario auto dealer John R. Cooper, president of the Motor Car Dealers Association of Southern California, at its 30th Spring Business Conference at Indian Wells.

"While it seems almost unbelievable, some car lines may not be able to sell any new cars that meet California's proposed new clean air standards, including school buses and fire engines, while most car lines will be severely restricted in choice compared with what residents of the other 49 states are offered," he said.

This possibility was highlighted later at a hearing of the Environmental Protection Agency in Los Angeles on the California Air Resources Board request for a waiver from federal standards in 1977.

"The factories' inability to meet the proposed California standards on many lines has been indicated to us," said Cooper. "It could lead to the shut-down of some assembly lines in California, unavailability of many 1977 models, further dealer closings and an increase in automotive unemployment, all for the sake of what I am told would amount to an air quality improvement of less than one tenth of one per cent. And it will add an estimated cost to each 1977 car of $215 an increase of 20 to 25 per cent in fuel consumption."

While other conference speakers also shared Cooper's concern for the auto industry unless a moratorium were declared on increases in auto emission controls, they forecast a more optimistic picture of an upturn in the nation's economy and a solution to the energy problem.

With the prediction that the economy will turn up in June and the country can and will solve its energy problems by developing alternate supplies to imported oil, William E. Hancock, president of the National Automobile Dealers Association, received a standing ovation for his address before the dealer group.

He urged the dealers to help expedite these solutions by entering the political arena and electing congressional and legislative representatives, regardless of party, who will respond to the needs of the country and by mounting campaigns for new leaders who will consider legislation with an open mind and with an open door to their constituents.

He stated that 1977 would be a boom year, and that for the next five years auto sales should average nine million a year with one million of these imports.

Stating our country, according to researchers, has more fossil fuel than it can ever use, Hancock said the 10 billion barrel Alaskan reserve would begin supplying the country with two million to four million barrels a day by 1978, and that other domestic sources included a 10 billion barrel Gulf of Mexico reserve, plus a 2 billion barrel reserve in the Santa Barbara channel and 2 billion off San Clemente.

An interim solution, he said, is our coal reserve, which comprises 60 per cent of the world's known fossil reserve. "It will supply enough energy to serve this nation for the next 550 years," he declared. "We have the technology to liquify the coal, to gasify it, to turn it into fertilizers and into oil that will burn cleanly. In five per cent of the state of Colorado, there exists the equivalent of one trillion, 250 billion barrels of oil."

Hancock said the ultimate solution of the energy problem lies 25 years in the future by which time scientists will have solved the problem of nuclear fusion.

"The development of these energy techniques and fuels will not only solve our energy problems but it will at the same time create 10 million jobs, for employment is directly proportionate to our use and supply of energy," concluded Hancock.

Auto dealers heard some good news about the state of the nation's economy from Bank of America senior economist and vice president, J. H. Taylor. With heavy declines during the past year and a half in auto and housing sales, Taylor said the cyclical decline has been larger than past recessions, but that in essence "the bottom has now been reached and necessary adjustments made."

Predicting the upturn was imminent, Taylor said first evidence will be in consumer expenditures for soft goods. "People have adjusted to the loss of real income," he said, "and the consumer is getting liquid. His cash flow is better, he has reduced his net debt. Savings are now high at nine per cent. And money will soon begin burning a hole in the consumer's pocket. After expenditures for soft goods, his interest will turn to autos."
